Reefscapes: Nature's Aquarium Poised to Revolutionise Homeowners' Living Spaces

Sunshine Coast-based company, Undersea Productions, has released a unique DVD designed to revolutionise living spaces by transforming TV screens into an exclusive window to the world's most stunning underwater scenery.

"Reefscapes: Nature's Aquarium presents the spectacular beauty of a high-end saltwater aquarium without the hassles and expense of maintaining one," said Josh Jensen and Liz Harlin, co-founders of Undersea Productions. "We created it for homeowners looking for something colourful, dynamic and beautiful to showcase on their flatscreen TV, whether it's in the lounge, kitchen or bedroom – in fact, any space suitable for an aquarium. There's no dialogue, no story, just the splendour of the South Pacific's coral reefs as if you were right there."

Nature's Aquarium is filmed in the clear blue waters of the Fiji Islands and features an hour-long collection of 137 seamlessly unfolding ocean scenes. Magnificent corals serve as a natural backdrop to the reef's innumerable colourful fish as they swim in and out of this unique tropical marine stage.

"Most aquarium DVDs on the market are mere videos of a fish tank, but Nature's Aquarium is different because it is filmed on actual reefs. The camera is fixed, so you still get the aquarium feel – except the action unfolds not within the confines of a tank, but in the South Pacific's limitless blue," explained Harlin.

Both Jensen and Harlin are confident that homeowners and their friends and family will be entranced by this extraordinary video.

Award-winning underwater cameraman Jensen used high-end optics and super-wide lenses to film Nature's Aquarium, achieving outstanding picture clarity. "I captured the unsurpassed beauty and glory of this vast underwater world by using excellent equipment. Fiji's unparalleled reefs deserved nothing less," he said.

Nature's Aquarium includes a bonus feature called Reefscapes: A Closer Look. It's a 20-minute virtual dive allowing the viewer to meet the colourful cast and characters of Fiji's tropical reefs, and includes optional subtitles that identify the marine life

Award-winning composer Bjorn Lynne's serene soundtracks are featured on Reefscapes: Nature's Aquarium and Reefscapes: A Closer Look, and both videos can be looped for continuous playback.

A video preview from Reefscapes can be watched on the Undersea Productions website, and the DVD can be purchased online for $19.95 plus shipping. Visit www.underseaproductions.com

About the company: Undersea Productions is a young business founded by husband-wife team Josh Jensen and Liz Harlin. Both are experienced underwater professionals – Jensen a cameraman and marine biologist, Harlin a photographer.
